Ike's Recovery 'Excellent'; At Farm

President to Take Few Days Rest at Gettysburg Site

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower, reported to be making an "excellent" recovery from his slight cerebral attack headed for his Gettysburg, Pa., farm today for a few days of rest.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, made the 80-mile trip in Mrs. Eisenhower's Chrysler limousine.

The couple left the White House south entrance at 10:41 a.m. and drove out of the grounds a minute later.

Just before the limousine reached the gate, the President doffed his hat, flashed a big smile, and waved to a throng of photographers, newsmen and bystanders.

The President looked very well and seemed to be in good spirits. Mrs. Eisenhower smiled but did not wave.

Observes Traffic Light

The departure was unhurried. The President was a few minutes late leaving the White House. Just one block from the White House gate, the motorcade hit a red light and stopped until it changed to green.

The President wore a light tan sports coat, dark trousers and a brown hat.

The sun broke through overcast skies just as the party drove away from the White House.

Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's personal physician, accompanied the President and Mrs. Eisenhower, riding in the third car of the motorcade. The second car carried Secret Service agents.

The President's decision with the approval of his doctors to make the 80-mile Gettysburg trip was further evidence of progress toward recovery from his slight cerebral attack or stroke on Monday afternoon.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty issued this report on the President's condition this morning:

"The President had a good night's sleep. He slept almost continuously from early last evening until 6:00 a.m. this morning. His progress continues to be excellent."

The 67-year-old President astounded a churchful of worshippers Thursday by suddenly appearing unannounced at Thanksgiving Day services.

The plan to journey to the country was taken as another sign of

Transit Workers Vote Today on Latest Offer

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Striking trolley and bus operators of the Pittsburgh Railway Company vote today on the latest company offer for settling the longest mass transit strike in Pittsburgh history.

The 2,200 strikers cast their secret ballots with the recommendation from their leaders that the proposal be turned down.

Gilbert Tietel, business agent for Division 85, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes, maintained the 26-cent per hour increase over a three year period would give the strikers less than they had demanded for two years.

Tietel said he would be prepared to make a counter-proposal to company negotiators if the workers turn down the management plan.

The Pittsburgh Railways' offer would boost the operators wages to $2.40 per hour by Sept. 1, 1959. The present base pay of the strikers is $2.14 per hour, including a 4-cent cost of living increase.

Pittsburgh Fire Captain Killed

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Funeral services will be held Monday for Fire Capt. James Culhane, 72, who was killed in a six-alarm fire Wednesday night in the Homewood section.

Culhane, who had 42 years active service with the fire department, was buried under a collapsing wall. Six other firemen were injured in the blaze, which caused $50,000 damage to a building housing a warehouse, American Legion post and offices.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated for Culhane in St. James Roman Catholic Church in nearby Wilkinsburg. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Numbers Hideout In Mine

Two Fayette County detectives, dressed as hunters, raided an alleged numbers operation at a district coal mine on Wednesday.

Arrested was Miller Savage, 42, of Hill St., Belle Vernon, operator of the Savage Mine which is located in a wooded area off of the Belle Vernon-Fayette City road.

Savage was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert E. Steinman of Masontown, where he waived a hearing on a numbers count pending court action. He was released under $500 bail.

The mine operator was arrested by county detectives James Eadie and Charles Kutchman.

Came to Shanty

The detectives, disguised as small game hunters, crawled through underbrush to a shanty near the mine opening. There, they found Savage.

According to Kutchman, a telephone call came into the shanty while the detectives were investigating. Kutchman answered the phone and took down six numbers "from a guy named Al."

The two detectives said Savage admitted to the numbers operations. They said that Savage had accepted and listed a total of 75 numbers on Wednesday from his mining office.

Reportedly the Belle Vernon man backed payoffs with his own money.

The detectives said they also questioned Savage's brother, Mike, but they reported Miller cleared him of implication in the operation.

Donora Borough Engineer Blasted

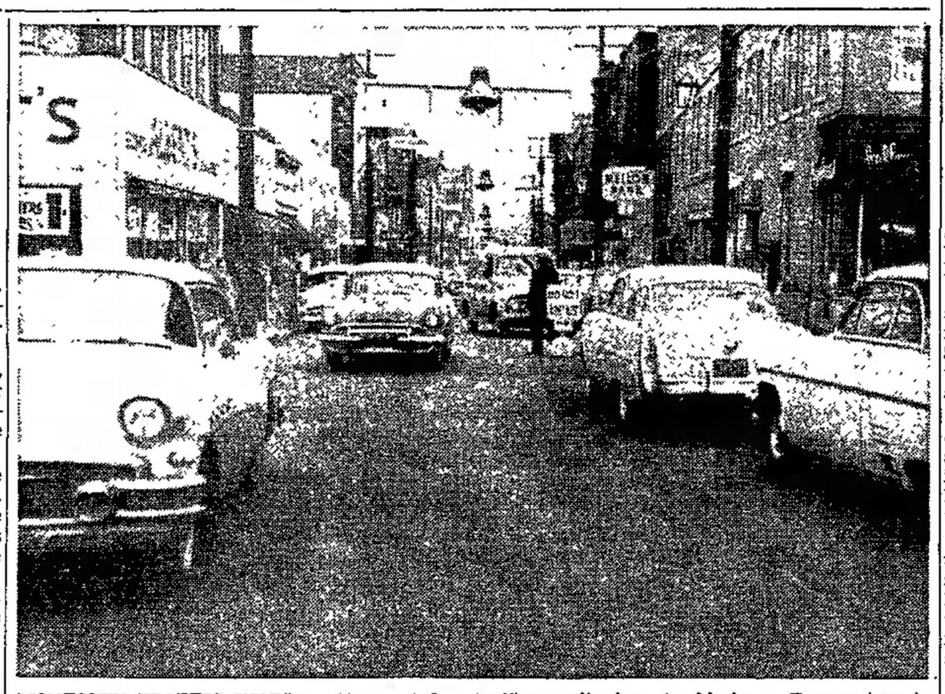
Donora Borough Engineer A. A. McDonald was the target of some sharp criticism this week during a council meeting.

Councilman Albert Delsandro, who will take over as Donora burgess the first of the year, charged that McDonald is "not present at meetings when needed."

Bristled Delsandro:

"If McDonald were here tonight I would make a motion to fire him. He is hardly ever present at a meeting; he just comes here to pick up his check."

McDonald could not be reached for comment.



MONESSEN TRAFFIC SNARL — At noon today, traffic was lined up for blocks on Donner Ave. in downtown Monessen. Here's a scene at the Sixth St. intersection, where two-way traffic mergers into one-way. The new regulations, forced by the Schoonmaker Ave. repaving project, have resulted in one of the city's worst traffic headaches in history.

Downtown Traffic Headache One of the Worst in History

Police and city officials agreed today that downtown Monessen is facing one of its worst traffic headaches in history.

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka described the situation as "very serious." And Mayor Hugo Parente labeled it as an "emergency."

But both indicated that Monessen motorists will just have to be patient with the traffic snarl. They offered little hope of improving the conditions in the next couple of weeks.

The traffic congestion resulted when Schoonmaker Ave. was blocked off from 6th St. to 17th St. to permit repaving. This necessitated two-way traffic on a section of Donner Ave. It also closed the city to commuters entering from the west.

The traffic tie-up may have been further complicated this week when Council ordered parking meters restored on the north side of Donner Ave. between Fourth and Sixth Streets.

Parking Restored

Kuvinka admitted that the restored parking has added to the congestion. He said he has assigned every possible patrolman and auxiliary policeman to traffic duty in an effort to relieve the snarl "as much as possible."

Parente said that Council restored parking on the north side in the two-block area after considering such a request from a group of city merchants. It was pointed out that the Schoonmaker project has taken away some of the downtown parking space.

The traffic congestion reached a peak Wednesday. Cars were lined up for blocks in the downtown section. Oddly enough, parking spaces were reported available at the Downtown Parking Plaza at the peak of the jam.

Police anticipate more traffic snarls tonight and tomorrow when city stores will observe late shopping hours to herald the beginning of the Christmas shopping season.

Some relief is expected by Dec. 14. Contractors on the Schoonmaker Ave. project hope to have a section of the road completed by that date.

Kuvinka also pointed out that parking meters in the two-block area of Donner Ave. "will probably be removed for good the first of next year."

Until then, motorists were asked to be "patient."

Minor Accident Here Yesterday

A minor accident and two traffic violations marred an otherwise quiet Thanksgiving holiday in Monessen, police records showed today.

The accident occured on Donner Ave. near 10th St. and involved cars operated by Floyd Ebken, Pittsburgh, and George Loukas, 311 Tenth St., Monessen. Neither driver would assume responsibility.

David Day, 33 McKee Ave., Monessen, was arrested for traveling too fast for conditions Thanksgiving eve on Schoonmaker Ave. between Second and Third Sts.

In the other violation, George Loukas, 618 McKean Ave., Donora, was charged with going through a stop sign on Fourth St. late Wednesday night.

Shopping Season For Christmas To Open Tonight

The Christmas shopping season planned on Fifth St. between Donstarted today in Monessen.

Stores will remain open tonight and tomorrow until 9 o'clock to accommodate holiday shoppers. Monnessen business places will also be open until 9 p. m. on Monday.

The city's merchants will award $100 in bonus certificates daily beginning today and extending through Saturday, Dec. 21.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the merchants' Christmas promotion said that the holiday street lighting will not be turned on until Dec. 1. Electricity will be supplied free of charge by the West Penn Power Co. to illuminate the Christmas trimmings.

The life-sized nativity scene planned on Fifth St. between Donner Ave. and Railroad Alley will be unveiled on Dec. 11. Work on that tableau will begin next week.

Donora Police on Lookout for Hit-run

Donora police are on the lookout today for the car that struck a truck driven by a Monessen man and then sped away.

Roy Raymond Keller, 28, told police he was traveling on Meldon Ave. in Donora Tuesday afternoon when the hit-run car struck the truck's right front bumper.

No estimate of the damage was given.

Suggests Dent Get Nod from The Democrats

Stating his first duty is to the City of Monessen, Mayor Hugo J. Parente today announced that he has removed himself as a possible candidate for the congressional seat vacancy created by the death of Augustine B. Kelley last week.

Parente, just recently elected to an unprecented fourth term as mayor, recommended that State Sen. John H. Dent, Jeannette, be the Democratic party's choice to succeed Kelley.

Parente's announcement today clears the way for Dent, who has said he will accept the nomination if it is offered to him. Parente and Dent are close personal and political friends.

Westmoreland County Democratic leaders are expected to present Dent's name to the state Democratic executive committee within a few days. The state committee will meet Dec. 9 to select a nominee. It is expected to honor the county's recommendation without any hesitancy.

The Republican choice will be made by the party's county committee under GOP rules. This group is expected to meet next week. Most prominently mentioned as the likely GOP nominee is Herbert O. Morrison, Scottdale, twice unsuccessful against Kelley.

Election Jan. 21

Gov. George M. Leader is expected to designate Jan. 21 as the date of the special election to fill the vacancy.

Parente, in a statement to The Daily Independent today, said he is removing himself from the picture because:

"I believe sincerely that my first duty is to the City and to the people of Monessen. By their action last election day, they have put me in a position of trust, with the express belief that I will serve them, as always, to the best of my ability.

"Therefore, the interest of the City and its people, its businesses, its industries, its civic and religious life must come first. Not alone because it is the proper thing to do, but equally so because it is my desire that it should be thus."

He went on to say it has been a "great honor to serve Monessen the past 12 years and I look forward to continuing that service. The next four years will present new challenges in our community.

"The economic conditions will demand all of our intelligence, our cooperation and our united efforts to keep our city prosperous, healthy, sound and progressive. I pray that I may help in meeting and winning this challange."

Expresses Gratitude

He said he was "grateful to the many friends who offered me their support and endorsement to fill. . .the vacancy."

Parente said that his training as Kelley's executive assistant for many years gave him "necessary knowledge and background to properly represent our county in Congress. . .but I have given a great deal of thought to the many things besetting our country at this time."

He then said he believed that Dent, because of his experience in

Library Vote on Assets Transfer To City Dec. 11

A special meeting of members of the Monessen Civic Library Association has been called for Dec. 11 to approve transfer of the Association's assets to the City of Monessen.

The transfer is part of an arrangement between the City and the Library Association whereby the former will construct a new public library building and assume operation of the library.

President Charles C. Throop of the Library Association said a special meeting of the directors was held Wednesday to authorize calling of the membership meeting.

The Association is expected to transfer ownership of three lots on Donner Ave. between Third and Fourth Sts. This is the site of the new library building to be built from the proceeds of a $200,000 bond issue approved by local voters at the Nov. 5 election.

Later the Library Association's building on Fifth St. will be offered for sale, Throop explained, and the net proceeds will be turned over to the City.

City Council at a special meeting tomorrow morning is expected to appoint members of a board of trustees which will supervise planning and construction of the new building and will operate the library after it is turned over to the City.

Combustion Engr. Employment Up, Report Shows

Employment has increased by 140 workers this past year at the Monongahela Division of Combustion Engineering, Inc., it was disclosed today.

As of the week ending Nov. 22, a total of 976 persons were employed at the Monongahela plant. This contrasts with a total of 836 employed a year ago.

A spokesman for the firm said the growth in employment resulted from increased facilities at the plant. A new million dollar addition went into operation recently.

It was also pointed out that 530 workers were employed by C-E at the Monongahela plant in 1952. Today's employment represents an 84 per cent increase in a five-year period.

Currently 660 employes work during the daylight hours, the company said. Of the remaining, 190 are on the second shift and 126 on the third shift.

Community Fund $4,273 Short of Goal

The Monessen Community Fund is still more than $4,000 short of the 1957 goal, it was announced today by Michael Skirpan Jr., campaign chairman.

The total received to date is $25,701.43, Skirpan said. That amount was reported during a meeting of campaign workers on Wednesday evening.

Skirpan pointed out that the new total represents an increase of $2,982 over the amount reported last week. However it is still $4,273.67 short of this year's goal of $29,975.

Campaign workers have been asked to complete their calls by next Tuesday. At that time incomplete cards will be turned over to a special "mop-up committee" headed by Councilman John Kotch Jr.

Kotch will be assisted by members of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and the Community Fund directors.

This committee will visit all non-contributors and those who have not donated a "fair share" gift.

All business firms who haven't made their gifts as yet are asked to do so this week. It was reported that business contributions are still $3,000 below last year's total.

Centuries Old Fells Church Seeks Charter

The Fells Methodist Church, founded almost two centuries ago, has just filed application in Westmoreland County court for a charter!

The Fellsburg congregation was organized in 1785, but nobody ever bothered to secure a charter.

"We were checking through our old records recently and discovered that the congregation had never been incorporated by the county courts," explained the Rev. W. S. VanRyn, pastor.

"Apparently it was assumed for years that the church had been properly incorporated at the very beginning," the Rev. Mr. VanRyn said.

The historic Rostraver Twp. church is reportedly the oldest Methodist Church "west of the Alleghenies." In the church cemetery are grave markers which date back to Revolutionary War days.

The Rev. Mr. VanRyn said the charter will give the church's Board of Trustees "certain legal protection." He added that most Methodist churches secure charters.

In its application, the Fells Methodist Church states it has property valued at $67,000. This property includes a church building and parsonage.

One portion of the church was constructed in 1834. An addition was completed in 1954.

The Rev. Mr. VanRyn said the congregation is considering the purchase of additional property for further facilities.

Listed as incorporators in the charter application are William S. Shearer, Kenneth C. Shearer, Chester G. Brown, Dallas Winchell, L. A. Carter, Ralph Coughenour, James F. Phythyon, Robert C. Ammon and Ancel Lewis.

UN Chief to Leave Tonight

Hammarskjold Hoping to Ease Tensions in the Middle East

UNITED NATIONS (UP) — U N Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold leaves tonight on a trouble shooting mission he hopes will ease the growing tension in the Middle East.

His visit will take him to Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Israel, and he is to decide in talks today with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi whether he will visit Egypt.

Hammarskjold agreed to make the trip at the request of Jordan, which accused Israel of kidnaping a Jordanian farmer and of carrying out other border incidents.

These developments were reported from the Middle East as the secretary general moved into a last minute round of conferences:

Another Flareup Reported

DAMASCUS: A Syrian military spokesman said Israeli troops opened fire on Syrian positions and a 30-minute exchange of automatic fire resulted. No casualties were reported. Syria complained to the U.N. against new Israeli "aggression" and called this "preparation for committing further anti-Syrian premeditated aggression."

JERSALEM, Israel: An Israeli spokesman said six Syrian soldiers entered Israel near Kfar Szold, attacked two workers and fled when the workers returned the fire. Another Israeli worker was reported wounded Thursday when he stepped on a mine near the Jordan border.

CAIRO: The semi-official Middle East News Agency reported that Egyptian army and air force units held combined desert maneuvers Thursday.

Burns Talks With Press

UNITED NATIONS: Maj Gen. E.L.M. Burns, head of the .N. Emergency Force, told a news conference the force would be strengthened if Israel obeyed a U.N. directive and permitted UNEF to tation men on both sides of the Israeli-Egyptian line.

Hammarskjold was flying first to Beirut, Lebanon, arriving at 9:10 p.m. Saturday, Lebanon time (2:10 p.m. e.s.t.)

His most immediate concern was reported to be the Israel-Jordan situation in which Jordan accuses Israel of a kidnaping and Israel accuses Jordan of illegally halting convoys bound for the Israeli enclave of Mount Scopus in Jordan territory.

A foreign ministry spokesman in Jerusalem said Thursday night the Jordanian blockade could develop into a "crrical position."

'Excellent'

the President's continuing "excellent" progress from the attack Monday which caused a temporary speech difficulty. It also kept alive hopes that he still might be able to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "summit" meeting in Paris Dec. 16-18 to take the lead in rallying Western Nations against Russia's space missile and scientific threat.

Decision Expected Later

Hagerty said Thursday the President's doctors "will decide later" on the Paris trip. He did not say when.

Hagerty said if Eisenhower does not go to Paris he will send Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his place. The NATO nations agreed Thursday to go ahead with the chiefs-of-state meeting in either case.

Hagerty said the President will conduct government business at Gettysburg "if there were matters that needed his attention."

Nixon conferred at the White House Thursday with Sherman Adams, the President's "chief of staff", and with Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, Eisenhower's congressional liaison officer. Nixon has said he will conduct both legislative and cabinet meetings if asked by the President.

A strong current of optimism prevailed Thursday in all matters relating to the President's progress. The topper was his unheralded attendance at the National Presbyterian Church — his first public appearance since his illness.

Later Ate Turkey

Hagerty said the President later sat down with his family to a 40-pound turkey with all the fixings.

The President's decision to escort his wife to church was announced with dramatic suddenness at the end of a Hagerty morning news conference The President had already left for church when Hagerty gave the word.

Hagerty declined to be drawn into speculation on the length of the President's recuperation period. Doctors said Tuesday it could take several weeks.

In reply to a question, Hagerty said there had been "no" medical reappraisal of the seriousness of his condition since then.

The White House press chief also had a retort to continuing proposals that Eisenhower resign or step aside for six weeks or so and turn his duties over to Nixon.

"While we appreciate at times the newspapers running the government of the United States," Hagerty said, "it is the government of the United States and that decision (to let Nixon replace him) is up to the President and the President alone."

Democratic Report On Nixon Is Blasted

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republicans today labeled "typical Democratic clap-trap" charges that Vice President Richard M. Nixon was abandoning association with the "Eisenhower personality."

The Democratic Digest charged Thursday night that Nixon has apparently decided to abandon the "Eisenhower personality" because, it said, the President's popularity has been on the wane since last spring.

Since that time, the Digest said, "Nixon has been acting like a man who has decided to abandon a slowly sinking ship but in such a way as to suggest that he is merely going for a swim."

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said "whoever wrote that must have been smoking an opium pipe; it's not worth commenting on."

Rep. Leslie C. Arends (R-Ill.) called the charge "typical Democratic clap trap."

The Digest, official publication of the Democratic Party, also criticized the President's recent "golfing holiday" in Georgia in the wake of the Russian Sputniks

It said the Sputniks have become a "symbol of American complacency" since Eisenhower's re-election last year.

Rep. Dewitt S. Hyde (R-Md.) said the Democrats are in "a bad spot to be making any criticism on that." He said testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee "has proved" the missiles program "didn't even get under way until Eisenhower came into office."

Monoxide Fumes Fatal to College Student-Teacher

HARRISBURG (UP) — Acute carbon monoxide poisoning was given today as the cause of death of a 21-year-old Pennsylvania State University student-teacher in a tourist home at nearby Camp Hill.

The victim was Virginia L. Price, 616 W. Horter St., Philadelphia, who died of coal gas fumes Thursday from a stoker-type furnace in the home where she was staying while doing her senior year field work.

Miss Price had been teaching biology at the Mechanicsburg Area High School. Three other Penn State girls left the guest house early Wednesday night for Thanksgiving Day vacations. They were identified from the register as Elaine Sartoris, Latrobe, and Pat Thomas and Joyce McCloskey, both of University Park.

The fumes were discovered by Lewis C. Hall, 69, a Rochester, N.Y. businessman, the only other guest at the home. He alerted Mrs. Ruth Miller, the operator, who lives next door. Hall was released after treatment at Harrisburg Hospital.

Cumberland County Coroner Edward A. Haegele pronounced Miss Price dead after she failed to respond to a resuscitator at the scene and a heart stimulant administered at the hospital. Her room was directly over the basement furnace.

Road Jobs Started

WASHINGTON (UP)—A total of 1,110 miles of road had been built for the 41,000-mile system of interstate and defense highways at the end of October, the Bureau of Public Roads said Thursday.

Blind Director

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Welfare Department has announced the resignation of George W. Dauth as director of the State Council for the Blind.

Nixon, Adlai May Have to Kiss, Make Up

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Adlai E. Stevenson will have to bury a good-sized political hatchet if they go together to next month's allied conference in Paris.

There are mixed feelings in political and official government quarters about putting together a Nixon-Stevenson "team" for the North Atlantic Treaty conference.

Politicians doubt it can be done but some government officials believe President Eisenhower's illness makes it essential that Stevenson go to the Paris conference to demonstrate American unity.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty kept hopes alive that Eisenhower might attend the Dec. 16-18 "summit" meeting. He said Thursday the President's doctors "will decide later" on whether he can make the trip. Hagerty said the Chief Executive would send Nixon in his place if he could not go.

Stevenson has not said he will or won't go with Eisenhower or Nixon. His position before the President's illness was that his plans would depend primarily on whether he could agree with administration proposals to tighten allied unity in the face of Russia's scientific-technical advances.

Because he has now set up a sort of bipartisan headquarters in the State Department it will be difficult for Stevenson to say he won't go if asked, some observers believe.

Chile Suspends All Relations With Venezuela

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP)—Chile has suspended diplomatic relations with Venezuela because of the arrest in Caracas of a Chilean diplomat accused of spreading rumors of a revolution against Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jiminez.

The Chilean Foreign Office Thursday officially informed Venezuelan Ambassador in Santiago, Renato Esteva Rios, of the action. A formal note said relations were suspended because Venezuela had not replied to an official Chilean protest over the case of Jorge Basulto Gullen, an attache at the Chilean Embassy in Caracas.

Basulto Gullen was arrested by Venezuelan secret police and held four days before being declared "persona non grata" and ordered out of the country. He arrived in Chile Tuesday.

We Heard It— ABOUT the VALLEY

(By The Independent News Staff)

Familiar Trees Gone

That familiar sight along the Nemacolin Country Club road — the poplar tree screen — will soon be a thing of the past.

Workmen are removing the trees along Route 40 between Beallsville and Richeyville. For many years the closely spaced trees presented a beautiful screen between the highway and the golf course during the summer months.

A few years ago, a disease of some kind attacked the trees until only a few were in foliage during the past summer.

New trees of the same variety have been planted.

Window Artist

Sears Roebuck & Co.'s Monessen store has a novel and different approach to the Christmas season this year.

A. Monessen girl, Idabelle Frezzell, 638 Marguerite St., painted the windows of the spreading store, located in the Manos Theatre building, with beautiful Christmas scenes.

It is becoming a conversational piece around town.

'Sputnik' Gum

At Webster school, the confectionary stand in the cafeteria completely sold out of its latest shipment of bubble gum in a matter of a few hours.

Reason: The gum was packaged in round, weird-looking wrappers, which carried the title: "Sputnik."

'Marrying Shoes'

Armand Niccolai, Monessen High School football coach, has a pair of black shoes which he wears only on formal occasions.

He refers to them as his "marrying shoes."

Explains Mrs. Niccolai:

"They are actually the shoes he wore when we were married."

And since the Niccolais have two youngsters in high school, the "marrying shoes" have obviously been around awhile.

Expensive Parking

Considerable squawking went on among district football fans at the Pitt-Penn State game Saturday at Pitt Stadium.

Because of the trolley strike in Pittsburgh, the traffic jam in Oakland was worse than usual. And to top things off, parking lot attendants were charging outlandish fees to park your car.

In fact one attendant charged a Monessen man $2 to park his car.

That wasn't so bad until after the game the fellow found his car, you guessed it, parked on the City street.

Clumsy Guy

A Catholic took a non-Catholic friend to church the other day and told him to do what I do" when they got into church.

As they were going up an aisle, the non-Catholic, walking behind his friend, began looking around the church, turning his head this way and that way—when suddenly he was on the church floor.

He didn't see his Catholic friend genuflect and fell over him while he was down on one knee.

Cheap but Wealthy

A gentleman paid his bill in a Monessen restaurant recently and gave the waitress a dime tip, for which he promptly received a glaring scowl.

As he left the restaurant, he muttered:

"Some of these waitresses think money grows on trays."

Pittsburgh Slaying of Elderly Woman Is Solved; Four Charged

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Homicide detectives said today they have solved the Nov. 17 torture-murder of an elderly Pittsburgh woman.

Three men will be charged with murder and a fourth as accessory before the fact in the brutal beating and stabbing of 84-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Ensinger, a crippled recluse, Asst. Dist. Atty. Samuel Strauss said.

Vincent Scatena, 31-year-old beefy bartender who had undergone intensive questioning during the past several days, was one of the three to be charged with murder.

The others were Frank Zaffina, 28, of Pittsburgh, and Michael Popovich, 36, of nearby McKees Rocks.

William (Tex) Garrison, of Pittsburgh, was to be charged as an accessory.

Popovich was arrested Wednesday in Cleveland, Ohio, where he had been staying off and on at his sister's home for several months. He was to appear in a Cleveland court today and indicated he would waive extradition. Cleveland police said Popovich was identified as one of the bandits who robbed two employes of the A & E Tobacco Co. of $4,499 on Oct. 11. They said prosecution on the robbery charge would be deferred pending outcome of the Eninger case.

Zaffina surrendered to Pittsburgh police last Thursday.

Zaffina and Popovich were named as the men who entered Mrs. Ensinger's Oakland home to rob the crippled woman of her life savings kept in a chest of drawers. Mrs. Ensinger was killed during the robbery.

Garrison was identified as the alleged fingerman, the one who police said pointed out the location of Mrs. Ensinger's home to his friends.

Garrison's wife, Mrs. Ann Garrison, first set police on Scatena's trail. The Garrisons formerly lived in a duplex adjacent to Mrs. Ensinger's home and owned by the victim.

The first clue in the case came the day after the slaying when Lt. Stanley Maskell was tipped by an unidentified person that he had overheard Mrs. Garrison conversing with Scatena about Mrs. Ensinger's habit of hoarding her money.

Questioning of Mrs. Garrison by homicide detectives led them to Scatena.

Mrs. Garrison apparently was cleared of any blame in the crime.

Mrs. Ensinger owned several pieces of real estate which brought her $200 rental per month. She never banked the money and paid all her bills in cash, hoarding the remainder in her home.

The Decision Facing The President

THE ILLNESS of President Eisenhower, even though his doctors are describing it as "mild" and "transitory" and are speaking of "complete recovery", is nevertheless a serious setback for the nation as well as for the President. We do not need doctors to tell us that a man of 67 who has had two serious illnesses in two years, one of which was a heart attack, and who now suffers a stroke cannot be physically equal to the pressures of the presidency.

At best Mr. Eisenhower will have to reduce his activity to the point where it may be doubtful whether he should, for his own good, try to carry on. And the world is in such a state that the American nation needs a leader working at full capacity as it has seldom needed such a leader short of war.

We can be sure that these same thoughts are foremost in the President's mind. Certainly during his campaign for reelection last year, Mr. Eisenhower was disarmingly frank on the subject. "When I feel that I can't carry on," he told one of his press conferences, "I won't be there." And although his physicians gave assurance that from a medical standpoint he could accept another four years of responsibility, the President said he himself would be the best judge of his capacity to discharge the duties of the office.

* * *

THE CIRCUMSTANCES require that Mr. Eisenhower face this grave matter with as much honest detachment as he can manage. He is a man with a highly developed sense of duty, and his task as we see it is to determine whether duty requires him to carry on under the new physical handicaps which are upon him or whether duty does not require him to step aside.

The decision is one which only Mr. Eisenhower can make, and we hope he will not delay it unduly nor flinch from it whichever way the line of duty seems to lead.

This country has not had good experience with ailing Presidents in times of international strain. Woodrow Wilson lay helpless and the White House virtually silent when decisions affecting the course of world affairs were required. Franklin Roosevelt, we now know, was making decisions in such a state of physical and mental impairment as to cast doubt upon his competence.

The world now is in a state of flux and ferment, and America needs steady and confident leadership. Will Mr. Eisenhower's condition let him provide it without killing himself in the process? We must pray that he decides this question correctly — for himself and for the country.

Stay on Top

THE SERIES of articles by Allen Kline, city editor of The Daily Independent, on the state of math and science instruction in the high schools of Monessen, Bellmar and Rostraver Twp. has, we feel, been timely and interesting. The last of the articles appears today.

Mr. Kline, of course, is mainly reporting the opinions of the respective school authorities. And these agree that in the three schools the math-science instruction is generally superior and that acceptance of the courses by the students is far above the national average.

We hope this is the case, and we have no reason to doubt that it is. But we believe the school boards and the top administrators should be taking continuing steps to reassure themselves and the public on this score. And they should not delay making corrections and improvements where indicated.

The eyes of the nation are on our educational system from top to bottom. And none too soon!

Merry-Go-Round—

U. S. Would Lose a War With Russia

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The secret report on American defenses, parts of which have leaked to the press, is far more alarming than the leaks indicate. One clue to its alarming content is the fact that the White House wanted only two copies — the original and one carbon — made. It did not want other copies in existence which might show Congress how weak our defenses are.

Mr. Pearson

For the depressing, inescapable deductions from this report are that the United States today has become a second-class power.

In brief, Russia could launch war on us at any time with almost certain odds of turning the United States into a socialist, satellite, subject nation.

This is not pleasant news to publish at the Thanksgiving season. However, the United States has come through some rough times in the past, dating back to the grim, bleak winters when the Pilgrim Fathers battled famine, cold, and Indians. And if the American people really understand the unadulterated, unsugarcoated truth regarding what faces them today, I am confident they will be equal to the occasion. But they have to know the facts.

Truth Was Suppressed

The secret report which has caused such worried reverberations in high administration circles was prepared by members of the "Arden Farms" study group, a body of top businessmen, scientists, and economists in New York who began making studies in government when Eisenhower was president of Columbia University. Over 100 of them worked on this report for the Office of Defense Administration, and it is actually a composite document which goes into many different facets of our defense.

Real fact is that the report should send no tremors of alarm through the administration, because all the facts in it were known not only to the Pentagon, but to newsmen who took the trouble to dig into the defense picture. If the facts were not known to the White House, then it was because the White House was not sufficiently interested.

The secret report warns:

— That Russia is ahead of us in all phases of modern warfare except atomic submarines;

— That our forward Strategic Air Command bases could be knocked out by Russian missiles;

— That the United States could be devastated by a mass Soviet attack;

— That we would be lucky to destroy five or six Soviet cities in retaliation.

In brief, the United States would lose a war with Russia.

No Food After 20 Days

Further depressing facts include:

The United States would have food for only 20 days in case of Russian mass attack, because food is located in the great grain elevators and warehouses of the big cities. These cities would be wiped out first.

With strict rationing, the American people could get by on a low, 1,800-calorie subsistence diet. But no rationing cards have been printed, and it would take four months in time of war to print them. The war might be over by then.

Most shocking revelation is that which shows our much-publicized forward SAC bases to be another "Maginot Line." Actually this is no revelation at all. Top officials have known for months that these Strategic Air Command bases in Turkey, Japan, most of Europe, were just as impotent as the huge wall of steel and concrete, the Maginot Line, behind which France basked in self-satisfied complacency prior to Hitler's attack.

However, the administration has deliberately gone out of its way to fool the public regarding the defense picture.

Substitute Nose Cone

When the President went on the air with his first "chins-up" telecast, he dramatically exhibited the nose cone of a Jupiter rocket, which he said had returned to the earth, thereby solving the question of re-entry through the atmosphere.

The Air Force scientific brain center in California, Ramo-Woolridge, has now written a report branding this a hoax.

The nose cone which Ike showed on television, according to the Air Force report, was not a test of re-entry at all. For this particular nose cone, the Air Force memo says, re-entered the atmosphere at a cockeyed angle which slowed it down; also rotated, which slowed it even more. Thus it landed at less than one-third the speed of a normal ballistic missile.

The correct name for the Statue of Liberty is Liberty Enlightening the World.

U. S. Needs All-out Effort

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The greatest need in the United States today, I am convinced, is to steel our minds for a long time against accepting the dangerous, comforting, sleep-producing soporific that just a little extra effort will enable us to catch up with the Soviets in science and in weapons.

Mr. Drummond

Today and tomorrow, next month and the next there will be many temptations to believe that, with a few scholarships here, an extra half-billion appropriation there and a missile "czar" somewhere else, everything will be in good shape.

There will be pressures from many directions operating, operating on Congress, operating on the President, operating on all of us, coolly advising us not to get panicky, not to go off the deep end and to remember that we've always always come out all right in the past.

I cannot escape the conviction that the overriding need today is to shield ourselves from these temptations and to resist these pressures.

Subtle Danger

The danger is not that we will become panicky.

The danger is that we will accept something "almost" good enough to catch up with the Soviets so that in the end we will almost catch up almost fast enough.

This is the greatest danger of all, it is a subtle danger, a bland danger, because it is a palatable novocain which will dull our anxieties at a time when we need to keep them sharp and exposed.

There is no such thing as "almost" doing enough; there is no such thing as "almost" catching up to the Soviets; this is the kind of challenge in which there is no such thing as "almost" winning. You win — or you lose for keeps.

This is why the Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigation of the missile program, which got underway in Washington this week, is useful.

Will Need Facts

It will provide the raw material of candid fact which we need to keep continuously before us if we are going to avoid the trap of doing "almost" enough.

Probably the testimony will stress far more what's gone wrong rather than what's gone right. That's excellent. The need is not to find excuses nor to find scrapegoats. The need is to be sure that what we are doing and preparing to do in research and scientific education, in speeding new weapons and in re-organizing our defense set-up, in exchange of scientific knowledge with our allies and in foreign economic aid, not only reaches to the target of closing the gap with the Kremlin — but exceeds it.

We must aim beyond the target in order to hit it.

We must be prepared to do more than necessary in order to do the necessary.

"Our goal," says Sen. Johnson, "is to find out what is to be done. We will not reach that goal by wandering up any blind alleys of partisanship."

Actually, if either side, Democratic or Republican, goes wandering up these alleys, they will both find skeletons in their own image. For the past, there is plenty of blame to cover the waterfront.

History gives us ample warning. Britain's Stanley Baldwin and Neville Chamberlain together with a long series of French governments conceded the balance of power to Hitler from 1928 to 1938. The end result: Munich and world war.

We have not knowingly conceded the balance of power to Khrushchev but we are just beginning to realize something of how perilously we have fallen behind in science and the weapons of the future.

In vital aspects of science Dr. Edward Teller — who has the credentials to speak and be heard — says we are about ten years behind.

In ballistic missiles the lag is at least 18 months.

And the race is not against a static competitor. The race is against a fast-moving competitor who, according to the "Gaither Report" — a secret government study which ought to be made public — is spending three times more of its gross national product on military strength than the United States.

What I am reporting is that unless we are to court another Munich we will have to avoid like poison the mood of "a little extra effort."

It will take a lot more than that.

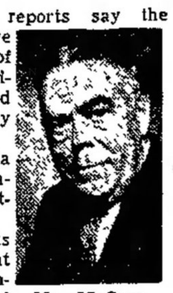
Spain Having Trouble With Africa Territory

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Spain has suffered an outbreak of enclave trouble in its little West African territory of Ifni.

Moroccan guerrilla bands have attacked Sidi Ifni, the capital, and half a dozen isolated Spanish army outposts.

Unconfirmed reports say the guerrillas have seized control of Sidi Ifni, its adjoining air field and three army posts.



Mr. McCann

The guerrilla action is relatively unimportant in itself.

But it points up the fact that all of the enclaves scattered around the world are potential trouble spots — and that two of them could explode into a third world war.

An enclave is a tract or territory, held by one country, which is enclosed within the territory of another country.

Ifni, 741 square miles in territory, is surrounded by Morocco which has attained its independence from France. Morocco wants Ifni. The guerrillas who have attacked it are not part of Morocco's forces. But Moroccans hardly can be expected to hate them.

Other Enclaves

In addition to Ifni, the world's enclaves include West Berlin, British Hong Kong, Portuguese Macao and Portuguese Goa.

West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, is one of the world's acute danger spots. Politically it is part of West Germany. The United States, Great Britain and France are committed to its defense.

A Communist attempt to seize West Berlin could conceivably lead to war with Soviet Russia.

Hong Kong, a British crown colony, is an island of about 32 square miles in area at the mouth of the Pearl River. Britain also holds 3¼ square miles of the Kowloon Peninsula on the Chinese mainland.

Hong Kong is surrounded, on the side, by Communist China — and China would like to have it. Britain is committed to defend it against any attack. That the Communists could take it can hardly be doubted. But an attempt might start a great war. One reason why the Reds have let it alone is that it is a valuable outlet and inlet for foreign trade.

Reds Want Macao

Portuguese Macao, only six square miles in area, lies across the Pearl River estuary from Hong Kong. Red China would like to have it, too, but as in the instance of Hong Kong has let it alone.

Portuguese Goa lies on the west coast of the Indian Peninsula. It and the islets and other coastal territory held by Portugal occupy 1,537 square miles. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru wants it badly. Only Tuesday the World Court at the Hague, Netherlands, decided over India's objection to hear a plea by Portugal to rule against any Indian claim to it.

The countries which surround the world's enclaves want no foreign country to hold a foothold on their territory. Despite any questions of rights or wrongs, it looks as if the day of the enclave is passing

National Affairs—

Symington for Socko Missile Investigation

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) —The word today is that Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) takes a dim view of the idea that the Senate investigation of the defense-missile program should be sweetly non-partisan.

Symington was secretary of air in 1947-50. Then and thereafter in the Senate, personable Stu never ducked a fight when he felt the air defenses of the United States needed a defender. He bucked the Democratic White House and all comers on such occasions.

These battles gave Symington a favorable political identity, sufficient to include his name among those contending in 1956 for the Democratic presidential nomination. Now comes the missile controversy set off by the Russian Sputniks. This controversy had the public's urgent attention from the moment it began. When a matter of national policy obtains the public's sustained and anxious interest there exists the substance of a socko political issue.

Such Win Elections

Socko political issues win elections for political parties and make careers for political individuals. Symington apparently sees that clearly. The senator is a member of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee chaired by Sen. Lyndon W. Johnson (D-Tex.). Johnson opened the hearings this week with emphasis on the seriousness of the inquiry into missile and satellite development and his own disinterest in assessing blame.

What the committee would do, the chairman said, would be to find out what should be done to correct the missile situation.

"We will not," he added, "reach that goal by wandering up any blind alleys of partisanship."

Symington need not interpret that remark as any charge of blind partisanship against him. Moreover, if Symington backers can be patient, there will be enough partisanship in the missiles inquiry to satisfy everyone including the voters of this republic who may by now feel that they have a right to know who was responsible for the lag in the United States outer space and missile performance which causes scientists to say the setback is comparable to what happened back there at Pearl Harbor.

Nixon Vs Truman

Pearl Harbor was an all - time shocker until Sputnik I directed attention to something which sober men assert is even more catastrophically shocking. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Harry S. Truman each is maneuvering to persuade the public that the other political party was at fault. You might almost say that these two have begun a public debate on the subject.

If that debate develops, the word partisanship will be much too weak for the scope of argument. There is personal feeling between those two fit to heat a cold political issue white hot.

However that may turn out, the Republican National Committee rejected the non-partisan approach to the missile issue as the Senate hearings began. The committee issued an eight-page pamphlet full of facts and figures. The purpose: To lay the blame for Pearl Harbor No. 2 right in the lap of Harry S. Truman.

What happens next is likely to be quite lively because Mr. T is not going to like that.

Russell Cites '57 Highlights

Veteran Donora grid coach Jimmy Russell cited some plays he considered as highlights of the 1957 season in his book, while making his recommendations for the 1957 All-Big Five team Monday night . . . Monessen's Bob Pauline figured in one of the situations pointed out by Russell as tops when the 'Hound guard blocked a Davey Russell punt in the Donora game which set up a Monessen touchdown . . . Another top thrill, according to Russell, was the tackle Charleroi's Barry Nucci made on Angie Dabiero which supposedly turned the tide in the Charleroi-Donora game . . . He also tabbed Dabiero's run against Har-Brack early in the season as one of the finest displays of broken field running he had ever seen . . . Monessen came in for more praise when the Dragon coach commented on the fine sportsmanship displayed by the 'Hounds when Dabiero was injured in the Monessen tilt.

Practically all of the valley cage coaches claim to be rebuilding this year indicating all the teams should be on an even keel but don't bet on that . . . It's the material with which you rebuild that counts . . . This was a lean football season for Rostraver in more respects than one. According to reports, the Leps and Bellmar shared only $112 in gate receipts from their game this year. Ordinarily the traditional battle is the big money-maker for both schools . . . Incidentally, Rostraver's share from the home opener against West Newton was just a shade over $200, also far below average.

Must Pick Up MHS Cage Ducats

Monessen High School basketball fans are reminded to pick up their season ducats from Faculty Manager Armand Mori or the season pasteboards will be sold to the general public beginning tonight . . . If you haven't obtained yours you'd better give Armand a buzz . . . Thomas Preston, Monessen educator and top sportsman, recalls: "When I came over from the 'old country' at the age of 12, the first place my uncle took me was to see the Pirates play. A little later that year, I saw Pitt in the opening football game of the season. I've been an ardent sports fan ever since."

He's now a member of Goose Tatum's Harlem Stars, rivals of the Harlem Globetrotters. While on a basketball note, Chuck Davies, former South Union cage star, who thrilled fans in that Lions Club-sponsored Fayette - Big Six All-Star game here two years ago, has been sidelined at Westminster, where he is a sophomore, due to scholastic difficulties . . . He is an outstanding dribbler and ball-handler.

Coaches Singing Hennon's Praises

Rival basketball coaches are certainly singing the praises of Pitt's Don Hennon . . . Dudey Moore says, "Hennon is the same type of player as Dick Groat" (and that's fast company). Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky says, "Hennon is one of the finest players I have seen in years." Veteran mentor Joe Lapchick says "He is one of the best small men I have seen in college ball" . . . The former Wampum ace is expected to break every existing Pitt scoring record before he graduates . . . Penn State quarterback Richie Lucas who wore No. 33 at Glassport High, asked for the same numeral (and got it) at State. He says it's his lucky number . . . The local Elks club will be the scene of a sports stag tomorrow night with valley coaches, officials and sports writers on hand to hear Stewart Townsend, view a sports movie and dine on spaghetti.

'Hound Gridders Win Finale, 27-6

Big Five Again Becomes Big Six

Defeat Brownies; Bronson, Barton, O'Toole Score

Monessen High School's 1957 football team closed out a lengthy season on a sweet note here Wednesday night with a 27-6 victory over Big Five Conference rival Brownsville before a sparse crowd of only 1,650 fans despite the perfect weather.

Left-halfback Kenny Bronson raced 42 yards to a touchdown early in the first period to put the Greyhounds ahead to stay. The pay-dirt dash off tackle gave Bronson the 1957 Mon Valley (Big Five) Conference scoring crown, succeeding another former Greyhound gridder Maurice Mathieu, who copped the point title last season. Bronson's season total is 84 points compared to 79 for Charleroi's Joe Uhlman, who led Bronson by one going into the Brownsville game.

Interception Setup Run

Dan Barton, Monessen quarterback, celebrated his selection as a All-Big Five back, by setting up Bronson's run with a 42-yard pass interception dash which halted the only sustained Brownie drive of the game on the 'Hound 13.

Later in the first period Barton found Dennis O'Toole, who also copped an All-Big Five award at end, with a 13-yard touchdown toss. Barton kicking the extra point for a 13-0 count.

Brownsville fumbled two plays after the ensuing kickoff and Barton, continuing his alert play, scooped up the loose ball and raced 35 yards for a 19-0 count. He again booted the point for a 2-0 score.

There was no further scoring until the third period although the locals threatened several more times but were stopped by inumerable penalties, being set back a total of 95 yards by the officials.

The Niccolaimen took the second half kickoff and in six plays had another score with Barton passing to O'Toole again, this time for 26 yards, adding the point-after again on another placement boot.

Brownsville fumbled the kickoff following the TD and the locals drove to the eight-yard line before fumbling back to the visitors.

Repeated Fumbles

The two conference foes fumbled back and forth repeatedly until a bobble with 'Hound reserves in action, gave Brownsville just enough "life" with 30 seconds left to dent the Greyhounds' goal.

Sub quarterback John Kanton, of Brownsville, passed 22 yards to Ron Provance to put the final count at 27-6. Ed Seddon's extra-point kick went wide.

The locals fumbled (for the sixth time) the kickoff after Brownsville's score but the game ended a play later.

Coach Armand Niccolai's Greyhounds ended the season with a 3-6 record but third best record in the Big Five Conference, Brownsville finishing with 2-6 overall rank. The Brownies were o-4 in the Conference for the dubious honor of gaining sole possession of the cellar spot.

Niccolai cleared the Monessen bench with a total of 36 players seeing action.

The 'Hound defense played its best game of the season with sophomore Andy Carollo, sub fullback who plays on the line on defense, receiving special recognition from the officials, after the game, for repeated tackles.

Bob Feller Joins Sportswriters' Fete Program

Bob Feller

Bobby Feller, one of baseball's all-time pitching greats, will be among the honor guests, at the eighth annual Mon Valley Sports Writers dinner, it was announced today.

The ex-Cleveland fireballer will join Notre Dame football coach Terry Brennan and a host of other sports luminaries in a tribute to the Mon Valley Conference (Big 5) all-stars Wednesday, December 11, at Twin Coaches on Route 51, near Belle Vernon.

Local School Cagers Open Action Tonight

Coach Frank Janosik's Monessen High School 1957-58 basketball team opens its 1957-58 season tonight at 8 o'clock against the always rugged McKeesport High Tigers of Coach Neenie Campbell.

There will be plenty of action on the local gym floor before the varsity clash, however, with local Junior High mentor Frederic Feldman sending his charges against the Rostraver Juniors at 6 o'clock.

Immediately following the junior high clash Coach Tony Caterino will have his Monessen Jayvees meeting the McKeesport Junior Varsity.

Coach Frank Janosick of the varsity will name Dick DiBiaso and Joe Kurey as certain starters with the other three lining up for the start of the tilt to be announced just before game time.

McKeesport Tigers will be attempting this season to uphold a recent record posted by McKeesport High quints that would just about match any in Western Pennsylvania. The Tigers have won five section titles in the last six seasons under the expert guidance of Neenie Campbell.

Last season, McKeesport went undefeated right down until the bitter end, losing a heartbreaking decision to Sharon by one point in the WPIAL Class A finale. Sharon finished the season unbeaten and the state champion.

Campbell has two holdover regulars from last year's team, John Allen and Bill Baugh. One of the boys will hold down a forward slot and the other the center position this season.

Although varsity games draw the most attention, tonight's situation finds considerable interest in the Junior High clash with district rivals, Monessen and Rostraver in the contest.

For the local team, Coach Feldman will choose from a squad of co-captains, Kenny DiGiacomo, Tony Caputo, Andy Dzuinko, Richard Yatchyshyn, Octavious DeRosa, Don Dkekel, James Smarachek, James Cantonie, Clifford Wentzel, Mike Kotora, Robert James, David Bergsted, Harry Vernet, Ed Fiorilli, and John Fedarko, all ninth graders; Eric Crabtree, Stephen Bezewska, Mike Nicksick, Tom Felgar, Billy Malinchak, and Anthony Vitale of eighth grade; and Ken McGee, Eton Karenchak, Harry Junk, Bill Kachmarek and David Sivak, all seventh graders.

Coach George Estok of Rostraver has the following boys from which to choose his starters: Willie Ross, Tom Newman, Leslie Lunt, Jack Knutilla, Frank Peto, Ralph Conn, Dale Patterson, Robert Kopanic, Glenn Markle, Gerald Bruno, David Safier, Roger Fustick, William Cribbs, Bernard Forsythe and Richard Ross, Lloyd Fisher, Jack Conner, Robert Weaver, Jeffrey Hickman, Dennis Daumit, David Corbett, James Laird, Terry Braddock, Edwin Lux, Barry Bindi, Patrick Gimbarra, Clifford Gravette, John Sivie, Robert Sullenberger, Terry Peto, Wayne Hewitt, Floyd Carson and James Pevalko.

About 45 per cent of Rhode Island's labor force is employed in manufacturing as compared with about 24 per cent of the United States as a whole.

Clairton Joins MV Grid Loop; Awaits Full Scheduling

Clairton High School, a perennial football power, has joined the Big Five Football Conference.

Henry Furio, Monessen High principal and Conference secretary, confirmed today that Clairton has been admitted to the long-established Mon Valley Conference. In the future, the football league will be known as the Big Six.

Furio said Clairton "will be eligible for championship consideration on completion of scheduling negotiations with Conference schools."

This past season, Clairton played and defeated two Conference teams: Charleroi and Monongahela. Presumably the Bears will attempt to schedule the three remaining schools next season if at all possible.

At any rate, Furio made it clear that Clairton is now a "full-fledged" member of the Conference.

The Bears are scheduled to play Wilkinsburg on Saturday for the Class AA WPIAL football championship. Down through the years, Clairton has always turned out exceptionaly strong football teams.

The Big Six Football Conference was "organized" in 1925 by Floyd France, a Monongahela newsman. Until last year, reporters in the respective communities administered the Conference.

At the end of the 1956 season, principals at the valley schools took control. They formulated a constitution and elected officers.

In the reorganization, Redstone — a previous member — was not included. The Hawks formally petitioned for membership, but they were turned down.

Two other schools have also enjoyed membership in the Conference during its 33 year history. One of the original five members was California, a school which withdrew after the 1940 season because of a dwindling enrollment.

In 1946 and 1947, Washington competed in the conference but voluntarily withdrew after two seasons.

Four of the original members are still competing: Monessen, Monongahela, Donora and Charleroi. In 1935, Brownsville joined the league, regarded as the best-organized within the WPIAL.

The admission of Clairton had led to speculation that the Conference may be expanded even further in future years. Reportedly Clairton was anxious to bring at least one of its traditional rivals into the Conference fold.

Vocational Gridders

Any Vocational Midget gridders who have not received their students season basketball tickets are advised to obtain them by meeting with their coach, Bucky Lutes, at the Vocational School playground at 5 o'clock tonight, Lutes announced today.

Bellmar, Lep Quintets Open Seasons Tonight

Bellmar and Rostraver are among the school's lifting the lid on the 1957-58 basketball season tonight.

The Hurricanes travel to Elizabeth, while the Leopards are at home to Perryopolis. Junior Varsity games at 7 o'clock will precede the 8 o'clock varsity clashes.

The Perryopolis-Rostraver game is a natural with the two teams fairly close neighbors. Coach George Everett will have his rebuilt Leopards primed for a good start.

At Elizabeth, a former Marion High (before the Bellmar jointure) cage mentor Bill Benedetti will be renewing acquaintances with former pupils.

Benedetti, in his second year at the helm of the Warriors, will build his team around Jim Cunningham, 6-2 center and Frank Bernadowski, 6-0 forward.

Tonight's game will be the first played in Elizabeth-Forward's new gymnasium which has a seating capacity for 840 fans.

The school is located on Route 48 about 1½ miles from the intersection of Route 51 and 48.

Coach Tom Healy is making his first start as Hurricane basketball coach and will have only one lettermen back in Ron Schmidt. He will depend on a group of sophomores like 6-5 Walter Lautsch and a large crop of juniors to help build the 1957-58 Bellmar cage edition.

Dressing Room Play Puts Lions Back in Race

DETROIT (UP)— A dressing room play that worked for a 62 yard touchdown and the oldest player on the squad have the Detroit Lions back in contention today for the National Football League's Western Division title.

"We talked over about five plays during the half," said Lion Coach George Wilson who admitted he was a "little" mad after Detroit muffed four first half drives with fumbles and pass interceptions.

One of the five plays resulted in the only touchdown of the game and the oldest man — 33-year-old Jim Martin, kicked three field goals as the Lions whipped the Green Bay Packers, 18-6, in a nationally televised mud battle at Briggs Stadium. It was the NFL's only game.

The touchdown, which came on Detroit's first play from scrimmage in the second half, had quarterback Tobin Rote faking a pitchout to Gene Gedman and then handing off to John Henry Johnson who burst through a gaping hole at right guard and pounded to the end zone, untouched after reaching the 50.

The victory put the Lions a half game behind the division leading Baltimore Colts who have three games left to Detroit's two. The Colts face Los Angeles twice and the Forty Niners at San Francisco. The Lions play the Cleveland Browns and the Bears at Chicago.

Elks' Annual 'Sports Stag' Here Tomorrow

Monessen's sports-minded Elks Club will host valley football coaches, officials and sports writers at a "Sports Stag" tomorrow night at the local Elks Home, Seventh Street.

Stewart Townsend, veteran West Newton High School coach, will address the group immediately following a spaghetti and meat ball dinner at 6 30 o'clock.

Past Grand Exalted Ruler Tony Strauss of the local lodge will "emcee" the program which will include, in addition to Townsend's talk, a sports movie and introductions of the guests.

Refreshments will be served following the program, which is an annual affair here.

Three Roll Over 500 in GP City

Cro-ams and the Elks defeated Aquarium and Cousins in Grand Parlors City Bowling League action last night as three bowlers rolled a 500-series including C. Vlasic (535, R. Echart (533) and S. Jones (532).

Others among the top pin-topplers were Jim Salay, J. Surovchak and J. Szabo.

Standings — Cousins 26-7, Elks 19-14, Cro-Ams 18-15, and Aquarium 3-30.

Greyhounds' Ken Bronson Winner Of 1957 Big Five Scoring Title

Ken Bronson, Monessen High left halfback, who came within a point of the Big Five Conference scoring record against Hempfield Saturday after being more than 30 points behind Charleroi's Joe Uhlman, passed Uhlman by five points to cop the 1957 crown with a six-pointer against Brownsville here Wednesday night.

Bronson thus succeeds another Greyhound performer Maurice Mathieu, who wore the 56 crown.

Until the Hempfield game last Saturday, Bronson was not even considered in the title race with only 48 points, even though that total was enough for a third place Showing.

Five touchdowns against the Spartans changed all that, however and left the 'Hound speedster only one point behind Uhlman, who was leading the conference with 79 markers.

Last night's first-period touchdown clinched the honor for the Greyhound left halfback, who had been named to the All-Big Five Conference second team just this week. He will be back next season to take a crack at the 1958 scoring crown, as this is his junior year.

Dan Barton, 'Hound quarterback, also climbed in the race with a touchdown and three extra points Wednesday as did Dennis O'Toole, MHS end, with two touchdowns. Barton finished eighth, O'Toole in 12th place.

Brownsville's Ron Provance was the only newcomer to the scoring list with his touchdown against the locals his first of the season.

The complete and final listing of Big Five Conference 1957 scorers follows:

Sporstmen's Corner—

Muskrat, Mink Season Opener Tomorrow

When the concurrent Pennsylvania muskrat and mink season opens, November 30, trappers who did not investigate conditions may find but few of these furbearers in localities where they have been numerous in past. Late summer and fall reports indicated that many of the rats, particularly, migrated from dried-up streams and marshes to large bodies of water, or to farm ponds, during the summer drought. Another example showing how natural food and habitat conditions determine the production and whereabouts of wild creatures.

Apparently minks, too, left their normal habitat to follow deep waters during the dry period. Because of recent rains or seasonal inclinations they may be back in their old haunts when the trapping season opens. To a considerable degree this could also be the case with muskrats. One thing is sure: Low fur prices in recent years have lessened the pressure on these furbearers, therefore the apparent drop in the muskrat and mink populations was not caused by overtrapping, in most sectors.

Trappers may be missing a bet if they do not inquire whether pond owners in their section would like muskrats removed from such impoundments. Trapper - sportsmen may find that here is an opportunity to help troubled farmers, meanwhile benefit from their act.

The trapping regulations for the fur season about to open are: The muskrat and mink seasons run concurrently, from November 30 to January 18, 1958. These animals may be taken in unlimited numbers. Traps for the furbearers may not be placed, staked or set before 7 a.m. November 30. The season closes at noon next January 18. Traps must be tagged with metal name tags.

City Cage Managers Meet Here Tonight

Monessen Director of Recreation, Tom D'Errico has requested that managers of the city basketball teams meet tonight at the Civic Center Recreation Office at 7:30 o'clock.

The reorganization meeting is being convened to initiate plans for the 1958 basketball season which will begin as soon as arrangements for securing facilities are completed.

Any new teams planning to enter are cordially invited.

Finds Convicts' Car—

Game Protector Rozell Stidd discovered a jeep fire truck hidden on an old, upgrown logging road on State Game Lands No 204, in Potter County, on October 2, 1957.

Said Stidd, "This vehicle had been stolen, about July 1, from the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., by escaping convicts who evidently hid it shortly after their escape. The jeep appeared in good shape but was out of gasoline.

"I immediately reported my find to the State Police who, in turn, contacted the prison authorities. Federal Warden Blackwell recovered the vehicle the next day."

WPIAL Class A, B Games Tonight; AA Tilt Tomorrow

Braddock meets Glassport and Avella plays Montour tonight in two of three WPIAL championship games this week end.

Clairton and Wilkinsburg clash Saturday afternoon at Pitt Stadium for the Class AA title.

Braddock and Glassport, in the Class A battle tonight, will meet at McKeesport's War Memorial Stadium. Avella and Montour, meeting for the Class B crown, will play at Canonsburg.

Braddock goes into its contest with a 36-game unbeaten streak, dating back to 1954. The only blemish was a 7-7 tie with Midland in the 1954 playoff. Coach Chuck Klausing's teams won the crown in 1955 and 1956.

For Glassport coach George Hays it will be the first time his team has appeared in a WPIAL championship contest.

The Montour Spartans rolled up 290 points this season, while limiting their opponents to a slim 20 points, to post the best record on paper of any of the four teams playing tonight.

The poised Avella attack, revolving around quarterback Gary Tranquili, was expected to give the Spartans a rugged fight.

Parker Plans No Steeler Changes

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh Steelers coach Buddy Parker said today he would stick with his first string team for the remainder of the season and avoid wholesale experimentation.

"We're going to go along with the best we have until the season ends," Parker said.

"I'll use any player on the team when a given situation calls for his use, but as far as throwing in a whole bunch of second stringers in a so-called experiment, that is out."

District Colleges Beginning To 'Set Up' New Conference

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The newly created Western Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Athletic Conference said today there are many problems to be solved before its objectives can be attained.

Lack of facilities is the major obstacle, a spokesman for the conference said.

The eight charter members are Duquesne, Carnegie Tech, St. Francis, Geneva, Grove City, St. Vincent, Waynesburg and Westminster.

Invitations also were extended to Washington & Jefferson, Allegheny and Thiel, which have not committed themselves.

Duquesne and St. Francis are the only members who do not have football teams.

Duquesne athletic director Lou (Doc) Skinder said the Dukes have no plans to resume the sport, but might explore the possibility of a gridiron return.

The conference is headed by Dr. William W. Orr, Westminster. Athletic director Cliff Aultman of Geneva is the vice president and athletic director Mel Cratsley of Carnegie Tech the secretary-treasurer.

The eight athletic directors will meet at Carnegie Tech on Tuesday. The board of directors will meet at Westminster Dec. 17.

Death Toll Rising in Holiday Crashes; Multiple Tragedies

By UNITED PRESS

The death toll began rising rapidly today near the halfway mark of the four-day Thanksgiving weekend.

Multiple tragedies on the nation's highways accelerated the growing list of fatalities A single collision in Arkansas killed six persons and three other traffic accidents took four lives apiece.

Five persons were killed in a two-car smashup at Darien, Conn Thursday.

A United Press count from the start of the holiday period at 6 p m. Wednesday until 4 00 a.m. e s.t. Friday showed a total of 152 deaths in traffic.

There were also 3 deaths in plane crashes and 19 in miscellaneous accidents, bringing the holiday death total to 173.

Although the National Safety Council declined to give an estimate of how many people would be killed during the week end, officials pointed out that a normal four-day period in November would claim 500 lives.

So far, 34 states have reported traffic deaths, and Ohio led the nation with 16, followed by California 12, Michigan 11, Illinois, North Carolina and Connecticut 8, and 7 each in Indiana, and New York state.

As late fatalities continued to pour in, the Wednesday night and Thursday death total surpassed the count made by United Press last year when 150 persons died in traffic during the one-day holiday period. The number was almost double the normal highway count holiday period of similar length, 80.

The worst holiday tragedy happened near Corning, Ark., when a car carrying six Maywood, Ill., residents crashed into a truck-trailer while passing another auto Two of the six Negroes killed were children.

A shocked father in Livingston, Mont., was told that a smashup killed two of his children, and it was believed his wife and two other children were drowned when their car missed a bridge approach and shot into a river Earlier, it was believed the father was in the car.

Two sets of quadruple fatalities were reported in collisions near Cairo, Ill., and Spencer, Ind. There was also a rash of holiday fires, the worst of which killed three young brothers and critically injured their pregnant mother at Hayti, Mo., when a can of oil exploded at their home

Turnpike Appeals to Be Heard Dec. 5 in Dauphin County Court

HARRISBURG (UP)—Hearings on defense appeals for a new trial for five top figures convicted last July in the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission scandal will be resumed Dec. 5 in Dauphin County Court.

Acting President Judge William H. Neely ordered the hearings continued Wednesday to allow the seven defense attorneys time to examine the Commonwealth's brief, copies of which were not available to all the lawyers at the opening of the argument Tuesday.

Defense attorneys, headed by Earle V. Compton, Harrisburg, took both sessions of the court this week to argue their cases. Compton's appeal, which began early Tuesday, was interrupted Wednesday afternoon by the postponement order.

Among the grounds for a new trial or a reversal of the guilty verdicts against the defendants argued by Compton was that trial Judge Homer L. Kreider had been "biased and prejudicial" toward the defendants during the six week trial last summer.

Compton charged that Kreider "insulted and oppressed the defendants, defense counsel and their witnesses" during the trial, and that he acted to prejudice the jury against the defense case several times.

In the Commonwealth's brief, Vincent G. Panati, co-prosecutor with District Attorney Huette F. Dowling, contended the defense objections to the conduct of the trial were "based upon the 'we was robbed' type of allegation"—rather than upon real errors in the trial.

Seeking a reversal of the verdicts against them or a new trial are former Turnpike Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale; former Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export; Paul J. McNeill, former turnpike finance director; Charles W. Stickler Jr., Reading, and Clayton A. Landside, Shillington, president and vice president, respectively, of the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading.

The five were convicted July 25 of conspiracy to defraud the commission of almost 20 million dollars through contracts for mine flushing operations on the North-Eastern Extension in 1955. Four others were acquitted.

Russians Deny Sputniks Are Measuring Earth

MOSCOW (UP)—The scientists in charge of Russia's Sputniks today dismissed speculation in the West that the first two earth satellites are making measurements of the earth as they criss cross its surface.

The Soviet experts said that instead their latest Sputnik is concentrating on the study of cosmic and solar radiation.

(Earth measurements from near space are considered an eventual mission for Sputniks and a vital one. Longrange missiles require such data for accurate aiming.)

Some details of the Sputniks' operations were disclosed in reply to a questionnaire submitted by United Press Oct. 26 on behalf of a group of astronomers in Cambridge, Mass.

Partial replies came from the International Geophysical Year committee of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences.

The members of the committee organize and supervise all IGY projects in Russia including Sputnik launchings.

Pact Brings Death

NAPLES, Italy (P)— Raffaele Dallessandro gave Maria Rotondo Baliva a gun four years ago and said "shoot me if I don't marry you," she told police today. Miss Baliva caught up with Dallessandro Thursday in the nearby village of Parete. She shot and killed him.

Flier Is Killed

HUCKNEALL, England (UP)—A RAF twin-jet vertical takeoff "Flying Bedstead" crashed Thursday on a trial flight, killing its American-born pilot, Wing Cmdr Gordon Larsen. Larsen, 41, (no hometown available), has lived in England for years. He won the Distinguished Flying Cross during World War II with the RAF.

Soldier Facing Japanese Trial

YOKOHAMA, Japan (UP) — Japanese newspapers said today Yokohama prosecutors would "soon" indict an American soldier accused of strangling the Japanese wife of a U.S. Navy man.

S3C Gregory J. Kupsi Jr., 23, Detroit, Mich., already has been formally charged with murder in the same case by the U.S. Army.

The press reports, quoting a spokesman for the Tokyo procurator's office, heightened apprehensions of a new dispute between the U.S. and Japan over jurisdictional rights.

Kupsi held a news conference in Yokohama today but let his attorney do all the talking. He met the press in the auditorium of the U.S. Army Transportation Command. On the stage with him was Capt. James R. Robinson, 34, Fort Collins, Colo., his Army-appointed counsel.

Davis Is Homeless

PARIS (P)— Garry Davis, American-born self-styled "world citizen No. 1," Thursday was ordered expelled permanently from France. Davis was ordered to get out by Dec. 2. He was warned he would face a six-month to three-year prison sentence if he returned.

Readinger Will Quit State House After 21 Years

HARRISBURG (UP) — House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger will end 21 years of service in the state House of Representatives Dec. 31 when he resigns to take over a Berks County judgeship.

The Democratic legislator was elected to the county's Common Pleas Court last Nov. 5.

Readinger, who lost his 1955 majority leadership role in the House when the Republicans took over control of that chamber in the 1957 session, submitted his resignation to House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armtrong).

"This resignation is submitted with mixed emotion," Readinger said, "as it is rather difficult contemplating the fact that after 21 years I will no longer be a member of the House of Representatives, which I hold in very high esteem. On the other hand, it is with a definite feeling of pleasure that I look forward to serving the people of Berks County as one of the county judges."

ADVANCED CHEMISTRY AT ROSTRAVER — These three senior students — Mike Sweeney, Lois Ahlborn and Tom Ahlborn — are working on an experiment in an advanced chemistry class at Rostraver High School. Clifford Naylor, Rostraver principal, says the chemistry course is similar to that offered to college freshmen.

Area School Ratings Depend on Whose Standards Are Used

(This is the final in a series of three articles discussing the science education offered students at Monessen, Bellmar and Rostraver High Schools.)

By ALLEN KLINE

Are students at Monessen, Bellmar and Rostraver High Schools receiving adequate scientific training?

The answer would seem to be:

"Yes, by American standards; No, by Russian standards."

A majority of students at the three district schools receive some type of scientific training. Better than one-third of them study chemistry; a figure which is much higher than the national average.

But district high school graduates receive nowhere near the scientific training offered secondary school students in Russia.

According to the U.S. Office of Education, when a Russian graduates from high school "he has had five years of physics, four years of chemistry, one year of astronomy, five years of geology, ten years of mathematics and five years of a foreign language."

Those are almost astonishing statistics, but district educators aren't particularly impressed.

"We aren't getting excited because Russia has fired a Sputnik into the sky," said Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of Monessen schools. "We have continually evaluated our system of education and we shall continue to do so in a calm and orderly fashion."

It was pointed out that American education offers a more varied secondary training.

Students Prepared

"Our students are prepared for a useful life, not for war," was one comment.

Raymond Barker, Bellmar principal, pointed out that "Bellmar students must maintain better than a C average to be eligible for chemistry and physics."

At Bellmar, 25 per cent of the students study chemistry while 10 per cent take a course in physics.

The Monessen chemistry program is somewhat unique. About 36 per cent of the students take the course. They are divided into three classes.

"Besides learning basic chemistry, our students have the advantage of some specialized training," explained Henry Furio, principal. "Students who intend to go into nursing are grouped in one class; those who will enter the engineering fields are in another; and those who are in the academic field comprise a third class."

In this manner, the instructor is able to stress those points which will benefit each student in his chosen profession.

About 25 per cent of the Monessen High pupils also study physics.

Finest in Area

Science facilities at Monessen are considered the finest in the area.

At Rostraver, students are offered the most extensive chemistry study in the district. Two full years of chemistry are available for pupils who maintain high scholastic averages.

"Almost 40 per cent of our students take at least one year of chemistry," said Clifford Naylor, principal. "And 11 per cent go into advanced chemistry, which is a course on a college level."

About 17 per cent of the Rostraver students are enrolled in physics class.

Students at all three district schools are required to take a year of biology.

Educators at the three district schools were quick to defend the scientific training offered their students.

They agreed that the American program of education should be continually evaluated, but they cautioned against a stampede into any particular direction because of Russia's space satellites.

Attitudes Must Change to Make School Programs More Academic

(Third of a Series)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two major obstacles lie in the path of any effort to tighten up U. S. high school curriculums to meet the challenge of Russia's heavy emphasis on science and math.

Educators and public officials agree that these obstacles can be removed only by radically-changed American attitudes.

One roadblock is the insistent desirable, were never a part of for for a wide variety of training courses which, while admittedly desirable, were never apart of formal education.

These include teaching youths to drive safely, to cook and sew, to make social "adjustments," and to develop proficiency in various vocational skills or hobbies.

A High Proportion

Few parents apparently realize how large a proportion of school time is now devoted to such "courses." A recent study in a suburban high school that is widely regarded as one of the nation's best showed only 70 per cent of its teaching time devoted to academic subjects. In many high schools, it is less than 50 per cent.

The other big obstacle to higher education standards is the American belief that every child should be compelled to attend school until he is 16 or 18 years old, regardless of his desire or aptitude for scholastic learning.

Few educators dare to criticize our compulsory education laws publicly. It is like attacking home and mother. But most of them privately assert that U.S. public schools have little choice but to offer a lot of easy electives and "practical arts" courses as long as they are required to go through the motions of giving every child a high school "education."

A Big City Problem

This problem is particularly acute in big cities, where private schools and the flight to the suburbs have drained off many of the brightest students, and have left public high schools with very high percentages of students who have neither the ambition nor ability to study mathematics, science nor any other difficult subject.

Should these children be shunted into vocational training (for which they may also lack aptitude?) Should they be allowed to quit school and hunt for jobs which are often very hard for an adolescent to find? Or should they be turned loose on the streets to swell the juvenile delinquency statistics?

Groping for a solution, some city school systems recently have adopted what they call the "multiple-track curriculum plan." This is a device for segregating high school students into several groups according to their learning ability, and giving each group a different program of studies.

This Is Fun?

WHITTIER, Calif. (UP)—Extra officers are patrolling the campuses of Whittier College and Redlands University to stop rival students from shaving each other bald. Perhaps a dozen students of the two schools have received the Yul Brynner treatment for prowling on opposing campuses.

Baby Satellite Is Described

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP) — The United States' baby satellite, to be launched into space sometime next month, will signal the earth with batteries powered by the sun through tiny portholes in the satellite shell, it was announced Thursday.

The Glenn L. Martin Co. made public a description of the four-pound test satellite which will be fired inside the nose cone of a 72-foot Vanguard rocket. The two part cone will open like a clam shell and drop away from time before the 6.4-inch diameter satellite is hurled into its orbit. Flexible crossbars which will support the satellite will be ejected also after the third stage of the rocket is fired.

Tar, pitch, turpentine, and other resinous products of the South's longleaf and slash pine were named naval stores because they were chiefly useful in wooden ships. Today naval stores find wide use in making soap, plastics and many other products.

Smaller Steel Firms Blast Rising Imports

NEW YORK (UP)—Reaction in the steel industry to the rising level of steel imports is mixed, but some producers, particularly the smaller ones, are howling.

Others regard the situation as no more than a "tempest in a teapot" intensified at present by the slowing of incoming orders.

These observers noted that steel, historically, has been a short supply item and say that the industry will be hard pressed to keep up with demand.

Problem Quite Real

But for mills producing items like oil country tubing, the hardware store items classified under merchant wire products and reinforcing bars, the immediate problem is quite real.

The authoritative trade magazine, Iron Age, notes that southern mills have been particularly hard hit. More than 700,000 tons of foreign steel products came into southern ports in 1956. Last year's imports were about 65 per cent greater than 1955 and this year are expected to show another 19 per cent gain.

But how large do imports bulk in the total steel picture? According to the Commerce Department imports of steel mill products in the first eight months of 1957 totaled 873,023 tons.

That's sharply higher than the 792,666 tons in the similar 1956 period and the 569,469 in the same period, but still represents less than 2 per cent of domestic shipments.

Europe Furnishes Most

Where are the imports coming from? Largely France, Germany, the United Kingdom and Belgium with some other European countries and Japan doing some nibbling.

These countries find that with lower labor costs they can absorb shipping costs and still undersell U. S. producers.

An example of this is the Italian casing and tubing that has been offered in Houston at $10 a ton less than the Pittsburgh-plus-barge U.S. price.

If imports have been rising since 1955 they are sure to rise more by 1960. The American Iron & Steel Institute says that by 1960 Western Europe will be well on its way toward doubling its pre-war steel capacity.

The institute says along with this increase will come a sharp rise in the continent's indirect exports of steel (end products) as much as 40 per cent above the 1955 level.

'Town Meeting' of Churches in Missouri

WASHINGTON (UP)—America's "town meeting of the churches" will convene in St. Louis, Mo., this weekend.

The "town meeting" is the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches. It meets every three years.

Upwards of 2,000 church leaders, representing 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with a combined membership of 37,400,000, will participate in the weeklong assembly which begins Sunday afternoon.

A main item of business is the election of a new council president to succeed Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A.

A Baptist minister of St. Louis, Dr Edwin Theodore Dahlberg, is regarded in church circles as the most likely candidate for the post.

Dahlberg, a former president of the Northern Baptist Convention, has been pastor of the Delmar Baptist Church in St. Louis since 1950. He was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Syracuse, N.Y., from 1939 to 1950, and of the First Baptist Church in St. Paul, Minn., from 1931 to 1939.

The National Council is the nation's largest religious body, with 82 per cent of America's Protestants represented in its constituency. The General Assembly is its top governing body.

Besides electing a president and other officers to serve through 1960, the assembly will review the 75 year-round programs which are carried on by the council as a cooperative enterprise of the member denominations.

Senate to Look at Appointment Sharply

WASHINGTON (UP)—Appointment of W. Wilson White as chief of the new civil rights division in the Justice Department today appeared headed for sharp scrutiny in the Senate and possibly a Southern challenge.

White put possible foes on notice by saying he intends to be "very active" in prosecuting for Negro voting rights.

White, a 51-year-old native of Philadelphia, is a former law partner of Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), one of the leaders of the bipartisan civil rights bloc in the House.

Charity Fund-raisers Enter Busy Season

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UP) — Has a friend or neighbor just "put the bite" on you for a worthy charity?

If not, you're being neglected.

This is the season for philanthropy, with the Christmas spirit and tax regulations being what they are.

Last year, 57 million Americans contributed six billion dollars to support 500,000 gift-supported institutions such as libraries, hospitals and universities.

Collecting this money were 35 million volunteers, nearly one out of every five people in our country. This army was directed largely by about 450 professional fund - raising firms and 12,500 trained fund-raisers who received about 5½ million dollars in fees last year.

Operate On Fee Basis

It's a business that is behind our largest charity drives, for the fund-raising counsellors set up and direct the machinery for collecting the cash. They operate on a fixed fee basis and do not collect money, which is the solicitor's job.

The fund-raising counsels, many of whom belong to the American Assn. of Fund-Raising Counsels, Inc., a trade organization, generally scorn the sidewalk coin box method. "It's not very profitable or dignified," said one executive.

Another not-too-popular device is the direct mail solicitation. Many fund - raisers resort to the mails only as a last gasp, or "mopping up" operation.

In setting up a charity drive for funds, the fund-raisers start by working up "the case," or arguments to be used for creating support. They also seek strong leadership for the philanthropy, a solid corps of volunteer workers and, of course, an audience that has money to spare.

Millionaires, as a group, give the largest amounts to charity, percentage - wise. In 1945, they gave about 9 per cent of their income to charity. Now they give about 12 per cent. The rest of us give between 3 and 5 per cent.

Franklin Raised Funds

Our fund - raising counsellors have come a long way since the days of Benjamin Franklin, who raised money for a hospital in Pennsylvania back in Colonial times.

World War I, with its Liberty and Victory Loan drives, gave the fund-raising profession a big boost, and they've been doing well ever since. Some of our older, most experienced firms have become specialists. The Ward, Dreshman and Reinhardt Company, for example, handles only church appeals and church - related campaigns. The Will, Folsom and Smith firm specializes in hospitals.

In order to squeeze out the crooks, 22 states have enacted laws that govern charity campaigns and an additional 13 states are in the process of adopting regulatory legislation. In addition, many cities have their own ordinances aimed at keeping out the phony charity.

One estimate said that in 1950, 3 per cent of our contributions went to racketeers. Because of state and local laws, and the work of such groups as the Better Business Bureau, the National Information Bureau, the chambers of commerce and the A.A.F.R.C., the percentage is "way down."

VA Approves Training Course For Technicians

The Veterans Administration Regional Office in Pittsburgh has approved a course for training pathology technicians at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Dr. Ralph C. Greene, who recently joined the staff, will supervise the course.

Eligible Korean veterans under Public Law 550, 82nd Congress, who have a real interest and aptitude in science may make application for the course by contacting the Pathology Department at the hospital. Two years of training are given to complete the course which constitutes 4,000 hours at 40 hours per week.

The hospital will supplement benefits paid to the veteran by the Government during the period by $125 per month for the first six months and then for the next three successive six month periods by $150, $175 and $212 respectively.

Korean veterans having physical handicaps will also be considered.

Gaillard Faces Votes Of Confidence Today

PARIS (UP) — Premier Felix Gaillard was expected to win two votes of confidence today on his handling of the Algerian rebellion.

Gaillard risked his brief career as premier in belief the National Assembly would not vote him out of office for fear of rupturing the alliance with Britain and the United States and for fear of disrupting next month's NATO summit conference.

The most important vote is on Gaillard's revised framework law for Algerian home rule. This divides Algeria into half a dozen territories, each of which would have legislative bodies. Later each territory would send delegates to a Federative Assembly and Senate in Algiers. France would control national defense, foreign policy, justice and currency.

The other vote is on an accompanying electoral law which would remove the old distinctions between Moslem and European voters. But it would maintain a form of proportional representation to prevent the 1,200,000 Europeans in Algeria from being dominated by the 8,000,000 Moslems.

Gaillard must win both to remain in office.

Gaillard could count on the opposition of the Assembly's 150-man Communist bloc which advocates complete independence for Algeria and on hostile ballots from the extreme rightwing Poujadists.

But the Socialists (99 seats) agreed Thursday night to vote for the Gaillard measures. Thus the key to his success rested with the 102 Conservatives, some of which are represented in his coalition government, and on the assortment of centerist parties.

An indication of the steady tension in France over the three-year-old Algerian rebellion came early Thursday when Algerian gunmen tried and failed to assassinate Abdel Kader Barakrok, French secretary of state for Algeria.

Sputnik's Death Being Predicted By Scientists

By UNITED PRESS

A scientist at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., today planned a series of computations which may enable him to predict the death of Sputnik I's rocket to the hour.

Dr. Charles A. Whitney said Thursday night that present calculations indicate the rocket will enter the earth's atmosphere probably on Sunday.

He refused to specify a time but added that a more extensive study will possibly aid him in predicting the death-plunge to the hour.

The head of the observatory, Dr. Fred Whipple, said he believed the rocket's end will come "between 65 degrees south and 65 degrees north, probably in the northern hemisphere."

The satellite itself was expected to remain in its orbit another month while Sputnik II, containing the body of Laika, the Russian dog, may survive several months

Aluminum Boats To Dominate Future Market

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Outboard craft made of colored aluminum will dominate the small boat market in the near future, the Aluminum Company of America predicted today.

A recent survey of the small boat industry by Alcoa showed that of the 400,000 outboard boats made and sold in the U.S. in 1956, 32 per cent were aluminum, 46 per cent wood and 22 per cent plastic.

This year, the report showed, aluminum craft will account for 152,000, or 33 per cent of the anticipated total sales of 460,000 units.

By 1961, Alcoa said, the market for aluminum outboard boats will rise to 210,500 units, a 63 per cent increase of 1956.

Aluminum's expected gain will be made at the expense of wood, long the nation's major boat-building material, according to Alcoa. The main reason for this, it added, will be aluminum's "remarkable performance from the standpoint of maintenance requirements.

The light metal, Alcoa said, "will never shrink, swell, rot or become waterlogged, and offers boat owners almost complete freedom from maintenance."

Ike's Well Wishers

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet Union's leaders sent get-well-soon cables to President Eisenhower, Radio Moscow reported Thursday. The messages, sent by Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and President Klementi Voroshilov, wished Eisenhower "a speedy recovery."

At Least Eight Killed In Accidents in State

By UNITED PRESS

Cloudy and rainy weather helped keep down the volume of traffic in Pennsylvania during the early part of the four-day Thanksgiving Day holiday weekend. But the poor driving conditions were a cause in several accidents.

A United Press count showed at least eight persons were killed in traffic mishaps in the state since the start of the long holiday period, 6 p.m., Wednesday.

Six of the fatalities occurred in the Philadelphia area.

The fatalities:

Philadelphia: Joseph M. Oakley, Carlisle, Pa., a sailor stationed aboard a ship at the Philadelphia Naval Base, was killed today when an auto skidded and crashed into a wall near the Benjamin Franklin Bridge. Two other sailors were injured.

Philadelphia: Mrs. Charlotte Feitz, 81, was killed in a collision of two automobiles at a street intersection Thursday night. She was a passenger in one of the cars.

Philadelphia: James J. Wobensmith, Philadelphia, was injured fatally in a two-car collision here Thursday. He died in Temple University Hospital.

Erie: Edward William Wickles, 41, of Erie, when a tractor-trailer skidded in the rain Thursday night and struck him as he was riding a bicycle. The driver of the truck was identified as Frank Condrat, 40, of Erie.

Philadelphia: Patrolman Robert Roberts was killed when a police emergency wagon he was driving collided with a car Thursday. His partner, James Carrolls, 39, was listed in fair condition at Women's Medical College Hospital. The driver of the car, Norman Hartley, 23, suffered a minor head injury.

Philadelphia: Andrew Paine, 40, Philadelphia, was killed Thursday when his car struck a pole.

Chester: Augustine Iacono, 28, a millworker in Eddystone, Pa., was killed Thursday when his car crashed into a utility pole in lower Chichester Twp.

Windber: Orville E. Sellers, 48, president and part owner of Super Motors Co., Johnstown, was injured fatally Wednesday night when his auto struck a utility pole in nearby Scalp Level Borough. He was a resident of Bedford.

"I've killed a child!"

"Never had an accident before. Never been in trouble with the law. Always tried to do right by my family and friends . . . they'll tell you. Now I've killed a child—just by taking a foolish chance."

Every day it happens, often just like that, to drivers who thought accidents happen only to the other fellow.

Remember this. No one expects to meet death on the road. Certainly no one expects to be guilty of causing it. Yet, last year 40,000 men, women and children died in traffic accidents.

Thousands of drivers—many who never had or expected to have an accident—found themselves guilty of killing someone on the highway. Most of these deaths can be prevented—with your cooperation.

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

1 Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Stronger Alliance Sought

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is studying a proposal to create a standing group of allied ambassadors in Washington to improve consultations among North Atlantic Treaty allies, informed sources said today.

Some thought also is being given to expanding the group later to include ambassadors of nations in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), Baghdad Pact and Organization of American States (OAS). This would serve to link the several Free World alliances loosely so each will know more about the other's activities.

The ideas are among many being considered by the administration for the scheduled North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) meeting in Paris Dec. 16-18.

President Eisenhower's illness for a time cast a cloud over the meeting which was planned as a chiefs-of-state gathering to seek ways to strengthen allied scientific and military cooperating.

The White House and State Department at first said the President's illness apparently ruled out his attendance. But the White House Thursday left the door open in view of the Chief Executive's apparent swift recovery.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's doctors "will decide later" whether he can make the trip. He said if Eisenhower does not go Vice President Richard M. Nixon will go in his place.

The NATO allies agreed unanimously Thursday to go ahead with the meeting in either case.

Morocco Territory Bombed

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—Moroccan officials said today Spanish warplanes repeatedly bombed Moroccan territory around the embattled enclave of Ifni.

Spain is using planes to support reinforced ground troops in the battle against irregular Moroccan forces seeking to capture the tiny territory.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan announced Thursday he had ordered the 300,000-man strong Moroccan royal armed forces to fire on any aircraft that violated Morocco's air space.

Ifni, on the southern coast of Morocco, has been held by Spain for nearly 100 years under international treaties. Moroccans have been demanding it be returned to their newly-independent nation.

Two Villages Bombed

According to authorities at Agadir, port town 55 miles up the coast from Ifni, Spanish planes bombed two Moroccan villages close to the enclave's western frontier Thursday morning.

Deputy Foreign Minister Abdelkrim Benjeeloun Thursday told newsmen that the fighting in Ifni was touched off last Saturday by a Spanish bombing raid against the population of Agadir Province. The province borders the Ifni enclave on three sides.

(In Madrid, authoritiative sources emphatically denied either planes or troops had violated the frontier. They maintained air and ground operations were concentrated on clearing out the Moroccan irregular forces from Ifni.

Spanish Angered

(Spaniards were reported angered at Hassan's "shoot on sight" orders and his charge that two Moroccan women were killed in Spanish air attacks.

The reports from Madrid said there was still guarded optimism that the fighting would soon be ended and that Spain and Morocco could work out their dispute over the 528-square mile territory.

Morocco's ambassador to Spain, Mohamed Auad, returned to Madrid by plane Thursday night after urgent consultations with Moroccan government officials in Rabat.

New Symbol Sought

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—A drive has been launched to adopt a new and different Christmas tree for Florida—a palm tree, naturally. The Federated Garden Clubs and the Lake County Chamber of Commerce drew the support of Gov. LeRoy Collins in their move to have the evergreen replaced by the palm tree as a Christmas symbol.

2 Card of Thanks

TWEARDY — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs. Mary Tweardy. The ministrations of the Rev. Andrew P. Parvensky, the services of the St. Mary's Ladies Guild, the Rosary Society, masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers; as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Angeline Spadafore, who died 12 years ago today, November 29, 1945.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain,
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by Mrs. Charles Venneri and Family.

In loving memory of our dear son, brother and uncle, Andrew Terensky, who died two years ago, November 28, 1955.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on, we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by father, sister, brothers, nephews and nieces.

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Emma R. Leinbach, who died 17 years ago, November 27, 1940.
Deep down in my heart there's a picture,
More precious than silver or gold,
It's a picture of you, dear mother,
Whose memory will never grow old.
Treasured thoughts of you dear
Often bring a silent tear,
Thoughts return to scenes long past,
Time goes on but memories last.
Sadly missed by her son, E. A. Leinbach.

New England Getting Spring Weather Today

By UNITED PRESS

It might as well be spring in New England. A lingering balmy spell which supplanted a cold snap several days ago today gave promise of more mild temperatures and light rains.

In contrast to wintery conditions of 48 hours ago when the temperature at Burlington, Vt., dropped to 1 degree above zero, the midnight reading was 46 degrees Thursday night. Similar moderate temperatures were common throughout the Northeast.

A wide pattern of scattered showers extended down the entire Atlantic Seaboard, and extended as far inland as Tennessee and the Ohio Valley.

A cooling trend in the Ohio Valley moved northward into the Great Lakes region and also southwestward into eastern Texas. Grat coolings were experienced in a four state grouping of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Arkansas.

Today's forecast showed generally cloudy weather and rain for most of the East Coast and snow flurries in the north central section of the country, including the Great Lakes region, the upper Mississippi Valley and most points north of the Central Plains and Rockies.

Silk Is Blamed for Vaccines Reactions

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—Silk is the reason why some people get allergic reactions from vaccines and other "biological" medicines, according to the scientific solution of a long-standing puzzle in allergy.

The silk is the silk through which the vaccines and other "biologicals" were filtered in the process of manufacture. There they picked up the silk "antigen" which sets off an allergic reaction in sensitive persons.

The solution was contained in two reports to the American Academy of Allergy. One investigator found minute amounts of the antigen in Asian flu vaccine and in the Salk polio vaccine of four out of five manufacturers.

Use Silk Filters

The latter was odd because the procedures for making the Salk vaccine are exceedingly strict and they do not include filtration through silk. However, the investigator, Dr. Monroe Coleman, of the Jewish Hospital, Brooklyn, pointed out that some companies filter distilled water through silk and use this water in making vaccines.

Dr. Coleman was stimulated into an exacting investigation of silk antigens (or lack of it) in the vaccines and biological products of four manufacturers and single products of nine others.

The stimulation came from a study by a group of Cleveland doctors headed by Dr. Harold J. Friedman of a boy who had a strange flare-up of long-arrested asthma after receiving the combined vaccine for whooping cough, tetanus, and diptheria. They traced the flare-up to a silk antigen contained in the vaccine.

Coleman pointed to five recorded cases of "severe immediate allergic reactions" in silk-sensitive persons after vaccinations. He said he knew of five others and estimated there have been "many more whose true nature were not recognized."

He granted that it was not possible to estimate how many people who have one or more allergies are specifically allergic to silk. However, he tested 250 such persons with silk extract and found that 69 were, which is an incidence of 27 per cent.

"The risk of dangerous allergic reactions to silk could be reduced by banning the use of silk filters in the pharmaceutical industry," he said. "As substitutes, glass filters, various forms of Seitz-type filters and nylon and stainless steel screens are available.

"At the present time, silk-sensitive patients should be warned of the possible danger of biological injections. If possible, they should be skin tested with each product before use."

Dr. Friedman and his associates, in their report to the academy, suggested that manufacturers should indicate in printed matter accompanying biologicals whether there is any chance of the silk antigen being in them. This printed matter should also contain "a warning of its potential danger to silk-sensitive individuals."

Your Health—

Fever Can Be High When Well

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

You may have a temperature of 100 degrees and still be perfectly healthy.

While increased temperature often is the first signal of an illness, sometimes it may mean only that you have undertaken something a bit too strenuously, are greatly angered or have eaten too much.

Like your heart rate and blood pressure, your body temperature may fluctuate during the course of everyday activities.

A temporary rise to 100 degrees is not too uncommon and generally is nothing to worry about.

If a high temperature persists, however, it's another story. Just to be safe, a 100 degree fever means you should summon the doctor and get to bed.

...ual cause for a temporary ... the body temperature is strenuous activity such as that experienced in athletic games.

But emotional outbursts sometimes are to blame, too. Whether these lead to physical exertion, or merely the stifling of your anger, your temperature is likely to mount. You not only get "hot under the collar", you literally get hot all over.

Even eating a heavy meal is apt to boost your temperature.

Now, of course, everyone doesn't have the same "normal" temperature of 98.6 degrees. For various individuals, it may be a little higher or a little lower, on the average, and still be considered perfectly normal.

As I have advised previously, you should take the temperature of all members of your family while they are healthy. Then you'll be able to tell just how much above their particular normal reading their temperature is when they become ill.

This might help the doctor a great deal in his diagnosis.

Question and Answer

R.B.: Is there any way birthmarks can be removed other than by surgery?

Answer: The application of carbon dioxide or dry ice is sometimes helpful in removing birthmarks.

Such procedure should, of course, be carried out only by a physician.

Grand Fellow

LONDON (UP) — Superintendent's clerk William Wood was the hero of the day to the other members of the Brixton police force today. He picked the soccer pool ticket that won them $120,495 Wood, 76 other policemen, and one policewoman at Brixton are in a syndicate which collectively bets $22.40 in a soccer pool each week. After many months of disappointment, they learned Tuesday that Wood picked this week's winner and that the whole group will share the top prize.

Kim Novak Doesn't Have to Be Actress

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — When Kim Novak is described as one of movietown's "brightest" stars the reference is not necessarily to her acting ability or her IQ.

Despite her Greek goddess face and roller-coaster curves, Kim is characterized as "the great stone face" whose performances run from deadpan to lethargy.

More than one of her leading men have complained that making screen love to the blonde glamour girl is akin to romancing a totem pole

No Overacting, Please

But Kim says defensively, and with beguiling understatement, that she doesn't hold with overacting.

"I believe the audience should have something more to do than just sit and watch," Kim said between takes of her new movie. "I let them do some of the acting for me."

How this attitude sits with Alfred Hitchcock, who is putting the Novak gal through her paces in "Vertigo," isn't known. Kim, however, says rumors of a feud between the rotund director and herself are not true.

Her dressing room was littered with clothes, makeup, a record player, her script and the usual feminine beauty aids. Only two books were in evidence. "The Psychology of Insanity" and "Principles of Abnormal Psychology."

"For my role in the picture," Kim explained. "I have to pretend to be insane.

You Have It Or Not

"I don't know whether I've improved as an actress since I started out. In acting, either you have it or you don't to begin with.

"Sure, you can improve technically, but that isn't acting itself. I never had any background for dramatics, and it was a big thing just learning the mechanics. I'm still learning to read lines, how to look for marks on the floor, and to say 'I love you' to a light bulb while the camera's rolling."

Kim, wearing a brown wig for her role, stood in front of a three-way mirror tugging at her skin-tight sweater and skirt to prevent them from clinging too snugly

"Actually," she smiled, "my acting depends on my director. I always do exactly what my director wants."

Though she may never win an Oscar, Kim is in demand. Columbia Studios recently came to terms when Kim went on strike for more money. Now the studio is buying her a $95,000 home in Bel-Air.

She needs an Oscar like she needs a new skirt and sweater.

In Hollywood—

Abbe Is Answer To Gina

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Here's a reverse twist to the stampede of Italian actresses to Glamorville—a home-grown charmer has invaded paisan country and wriggled her way to top stardom.

She's Abbe Lane, the Latin from Brooklyn who has made nine pictures in Italy in the past two years.

Until the generously endowed Aobe made good in Rome the traffic in glamour girls was a pretty one-sided affair. Gina Lollobrigida, Annna Magnani, Sophia Loren and the rest trekked to this side of the pond to pitch curves at delighted American audiences, but our girls couldn't cut the spaghetti over there.

Abbe says her unique success aboard is due to the fact she's not an "all-American girl" type. She looks more European than the Italian gals.

A Novelty In Italy

Never a big star in American pictures—she's only made three—Abbe is the Marilyn Monroe of pizzaland.

"I'm a novelty over there," she said, posing in a gown in the Paramount Studio art gallery.

"They mob me in the streets, stop traffic and generally go crazy when I make a public appearance. It is exactly the same treatment Marilyn gets in this country.

"They think I'm wonderful. And to prove it, I've made more Italian pictures in the last two years than any actress in Rome."

Abbe's married to bandleader Xavier Cougat. He spends six months a year with Abbe in Rome where they have a permanent residence.

Success As Cover Girl

Starring in "Maracaibo" with Cornel Wilde, Abbe leaves this week for New York where she is scheduled to appear in the Broadway version of "Captain's Paradise."

"I'm not as well-known in America as I am in Europe," Abbe continued. "I've been on 53 magazine covers over there in the last 12 months.

"They accept me because I look and behave like an Italian. They're not anxious to have other Hollywood actresses work in Italy because our girls have that gaunt, hungry look. Fortunately, I never had that trouble."

Garry Moore To Break Up Morning Show

NEW YORK (UP)—Garry Moore will break up his TV family and daily CBS-TV morning show at the end of this season, the network announced today.

CBS-TV said the Moore show, now in its seventh year, would not return to TV next fall. The crew-cut comic from Baltimore, will continue to emcee his regular Wednesday night entry on CBS-TV.

Sources close to the network indicated that Dick Van Dyke, a young comic in the CBS-TV stable, would get first crack at Moore's TV spot next season. Van Dyke will take over the Moore show for a two-week test run in January.

Moore delivered the bad news to his cast after his show this morning. "I wanted to hold it off until after Thanksgiving," explained Moore to United Press. "But the news had begun to leak out and I couldn't hold off any longer."

Moore said he notified CBS-TV in September that he wanted to wash out his morning show next year and take a rest for a while.

HOOVER AIDS BIBLE PROGRAM — Former President Herbert Hoover a sponsor of the American Bible Society's annual Worldwide Bible Reading program, smiles his approval of this year's theme poster held by Pvt. Beverly Pardue, U. S. Army, Portland, Maine. The slogan, "Now in 1,100 Tongues," refers to the number of languages and dialects into which at least one book of the Bible has been translated. The program, which unites more than 15,000,000 persons in more than 50 countries through daily readings from Thanksgiving to Christmas, was hailed by President Eisenhower in a message to the Society, which is headed by Dr. Daniel Burke.

Air Pollution Called Factor in Lung Cancer

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—The heavy cigaret smoker who spends a lot of time in city traffic and lives in an industrial district has a much greater chance of getting lung cancer than the heavy cigaret smoker who lives in "clean" country air, according to the newest statistical study.

It was made by Dr. Clarence A. Mills and Marjorie Mills Porter of the University of Cincinnati Medical School, and agreed with the basic finding of " previous statistical studies of general populations—that there is a connection between cigaret smoking and the incidence of lung cancer.

But this Mills-Porter study is the first to include the as yet unexpired factor of atmospheric pollution common in industrial districts of cities and in heavily traveled city streets. The results of this new study suggested that heavy smoking when combined with exposure to motor exhausts and industrial air pollutions produced more lung cancer than any one of the three factors could alone.

Cincinnati Sample Area

The scientists gathered their statistics from residents of three places: (1) "basin" districts of Cincinnati where atmospheric pollution is heavy and where lack of natural ventilation and temperature inversions often prevent polluted air from dispersing; (2) Cincinnati's cleaner (atmospherically speaking) suburbs; (3) rural Ohio counties where the air is clean.

Long-term residents of these three types of environments were classified by their smoking habits and by how much automobile driving they did—whether more or less than 12,000 miles a year. The number studied in each district ranged from 300 to 1,400 but in each case it was a statistically significant proportion of the district's total population. In this and other details the study conformed to the statistical rules.

Basin Residents Hard-hit

It was found that smoking was "significantly related" to lung cancer incident "whether or not there was in addition heavy exposure in urban motor traffic or to general urban air pollution." But driving more than 12,000 miles a year in city traffic was also "significantly related" And the men of the industrial "basins" were shown to have a higher lung cancer death rate than the men living in the cleaner suburbs.

In their report to the technical journal, "Cancer Research," the scientists took a poke at a colleague, Dr. Paul Kotin, associate professor of pathology, University of Southern California, who is a member of the scientific advisory board of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee. Dr. Kotin is well-known for his work on atmospheric pollution and for his stand that it, rather than smoking, is related to lung cancer incidence.

Fumes Merely Aggravate

Their data, the scientists said, "will make it difficult for Kotin" or any of his scientific associates of the tobacco research committee "to continue holding that there is 'no convincing evidence that tobacco possesses the necessary qualifications for the initiation and promotion of lung cancer' or that the use of tobacco is 'capable of playing only a secondary role in the increase in lung cancer rates.'

"It would now seem most likely, rather, that the heavy dosing of the respiratory mucosa with tobacco smoke for many hours each day acts as the dominant etiologic (causative) factor in much of today's lung cancer, with motor exhaust fumes and general urban air pollution as yet perhaps serving only to aggravate the tobacco-smoking effects."

Fowled Up

PASADENA, Calif. (UP)— Police say Nicolas M. Stupin got the bird but that the fowl deed may land the 20-year-old suspected bird-napper in the big cage. Stupin was booked on suspicion of grand theft, cockatoo — after Cocky, a 65-year-old cockatoo worth $3,000 was stolen from his perch. The suspect was traced through a license number.

It's A Joke!

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — Eyes popped in the Columbus Citizen newsroom when a deputy sheriff appeared with a subpena. The subpena ordered the entire staff to appear "before the officers, directors and employes of the Ohio Federal Savings and Loan Assn." for the firm's annual Christmas party Dec. 2.

Before World War I, the Soviet Ukraine accounted for nearly a fourth of Russia's entire wheat and corn crops, a third of its barley and two-thirds of its sugar beet output.

Charges Army with Misuse of Specialists

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Albert W. Cretella (R-Conn) charged today that 130 soldiers with scientific and engineering backgrounds are forced to pull KP and guard duty at the Army's Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground even though band players are exempt from such duty.

Cretella accused the Army of "gross misutilization" of enlisted men with scientific and engineering backgrounds.

He demanded the Army either overhaul its present scientific and professional program or else scrap it completely. The program is intended to utilize scientific experience on military jobs.

In a statement issued through his office Cretella particularly criticized operation of the scientific program at the Aberdeen Proving Ground.

He said 130 men in the program "regularly" do such tasks as "kitchen police" and guard duty while two-thirds of all other enlisted personnel—including military police, bandsmen and clerks—are exempt from them.

Cretella said a physics professor wrote he quit a civilian job at Aberdeen because of "disgust with the inefficiency and incompetence of the proving ground."

The professor, whom Cretella did not identify, said four soldiers who had worked under him on the scientific program spent about half their time on "KP, guard duty and the like."
